Agriculture Winter Webinar Series

Alberta Agriculture and Rural Development has information you need to know. You have heard us on the radio on 'Call of the Land', in the newspapers, and in community halls and meeting rooms across Alberta. Now we are trying a new mode of communication and an opportunity for you to learn – a webinar series.

- o It is a series of one-hour webinars - at a common time and place - Wednesdays at 1:30 PM MST, starting February 22, 2012.
- o In real time it is interactive - you can get answers directly from the 'expert', and learn from other audience members.
- o You can also participate on your own time if you prefer to watch the recorded webinar after the fact.
- o The speakers and topics are timely and relevant to your needs, on topics ranging from changes to the barley and wheat marketing system, to Fusarium head blight, farm safety, manure nutrient management, spring grazing, growing winter peas and more.
- o Join us – it's free!

A world class regulator in your backyard.

The Energy Resources Conservation Board (ERCB) is Alberta's energy regulator. Since 1938, we have been dedicated to our mission of ensuring that Alberta's energy resources are developed safely and in the public interest. Over our long history the ERCB has remained committed to resource conservation, public safety, and environmental protection, and to providing reliable information to our stakeholders.

We operate from nine Field Centres across Alberta, employing a team of trained field inspectors to conduct thousands of inspections of oil and gas facilities each year. ERCB field staff also respond to emergencies and public complaints on a 24-hour basis and ensure a consistent approach to enforcement of ERCB requirements.

Regulators from across the globe come to learn how we effectively regulate Alberta's complex energy industry, discovering what Albertans already know—that the ERCB's business approach, impressive technical expertise, and innovation are setting global regulatory standards.

The seven-plus decades the ERCB has been living and working in your communities has helped us better understand stakeholder issues, and given us the extensive technical knowledge and tools needed to effectively regulate Alberta's oil and gas sector.
